

CASE STUDY:

Spacemaker AI has developed a game-changing AI technology that discovers the smartest ways to maximise the value of any building site. They generate and explore millions of site proposals, evaluate the findings to showcase the best suited and respond with detailed statistics about each of them. Their tools can provide a valuable level of insight to architects, real estate developers, and municipalities. The company was founded in 2016 and is based across 7 locations: Oslo, Stockholm, Helsinki, Paris, Amsterdam, Barcelona and Boston.

OBJECTIVE:

Spacemaker is expanding globally, LMRE were on hand to help fill positions for their new office in Paris. Our team worked directly with the COO and Head of French office and aided in successfully filling spots for both Customer Success Manager and SAAS Enterprise Account Executive.

SOLUTION:

LMRE worked closely and proactively with Spacemaker from August – November in order to find the most suitable candidates for the positions in their Paris office. With a competitive interview process, our team were on the ground looking for the best potential candidate sending circa 30 CV's and guiding applicants throughout the process. During the process Spacemaker was acquired by Autodesk, LMRE operated during this time to maintain the relationship with the candidate and client securing them whilst the transition was being finalised in the background.

FUTURE PLANS:

LMRE looks forward to continue supporting Spacemaker in their global growth going forward.

“LMRE has been really helpful and efficient in both sourcing the best possible candidates (for two different positions) and running the whole recruitment process from end to end. Working with them has been a real success for us.”

JEAN BAPTISTE, HEAD OF FRENCH OFFICE
